Abstract

Embodiments of the present invention relate to software for automatically forming links between a collateral agreement and receivable secured by the collateral agreement.